Description

The Nissan Navara makes good sense for buyers needing a work vehicle that offers family comforts.

It is easy to drive, now behaves better with a load in the tray, and has some of those niceties that we love in SUVs. We love its practical nature – great for camping, trekking garden waste to the dump, even moving a bit of furniture – and all that on top of the day job.

The Navara is not perfect but does enough well to leave a favourable impression.
